

Sexual Health Education Program (SHEP) Current Workshop Topics

Updated March 2016

Planning a sexual health workshop or event for your residents or student organization? Sexperts are trained to present a diverse range of topics through interactive games, discussion, lecture and demonstrations. Meet with a Sexpert to help plan and co-facilitate your workshop or event. Workshops require a minimum of 1 week advance notice. This is so that we can have time to staff and plan your workshop, while allowing time for you to promote the event to your group.

Available workshops:

- Sexual debuts: examines how students decide when they are ready to become sexually active for the first time or with a new partner; basic mechanics of sex (vaginal, anal, oral); role of hormones in terms of arousal; negotiating sex.
- Safer sex: review of common safer sex methods – commercial and DIY; communication skills; discussion on why a person would/not want to practice safer sex.
- Healthy relationships: overview of various types of relationships; characteristics of healthy, unhealthy and abusive relationships; communication skill building; tools for dealing with conflict/break ups.
- Sexual pleasure: overview of pleasure physiology including primary and secondary erogenous zones, sexual arousal and response; role of lube, toys and other aids used to enhance sexual experience.
- Intro to sexual health: brief summary of reproductive and pleasure physiology; self-tests like testicular and breast exams; STI testing - when and why to get tested.
- STIs/HIV: common STIs including modes of transmission, possible symptoms, testing options, and treatment.
